MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A dentist can stop a woman's tooth, but not her jaw.

A warning for fashionable assemblies. Look out for paint.

Why are lawyers like ivy?—Because the greater the run, the more they cling.

Epitaph on blind wood sawyer: While none ever saw him see, thousands have seen him saw.

"A lady was lately hugged to death in Minnesota"—Another illustration of "the power of the press."

There are thirty postmistresses in Texas.

Two Englishmen have been eaten by the Feejeans, who speak highly of their tenderness and gamey flavor.

Advice to children: mind your mothers. Advice to mothers: mind your children.

Horace Greeley is reported as authority for the last rule to secure profit from poultry. If it is desired to make them lay, he says, tie their legs together, and then they can't stand up.

A Newton man of poor means, but lofty feelings, having expressed a wish to be buried with pomp, his well-meaning but misguided relatives planted him in a colored graveyard.

A minister made an interminable call upon a lady of his acquaintance. Her little daughter who was present, grew very weary of his conversation and at last whispered in an audible key: "Didn't he bring his amen with him, mamma?"

A little girl wants to know if fleas are white, because her uncle told her that "Mary had a little lamb with fleas as white as snow."

Why is a woman tying her corset like a man drinking to drown care?—Because in so lacing herself she becomes tighter.

A Western paper says that the water is so low in the Mississippi River that the steamboats have to keep whistling to keep cows out of the channel, and if this state of things continue it is proposed to attach a cow-catcher to the end of the boat.

A Connecticut Democrat sent his son to New York to complete his education. After a short time the son wrote to his father that he was studying "Horace." On learning this the paternal parent replied, "Come home; I don't want Greeley to make a Republican of my son."

A quaint old gentleman of an active, stirring disposition had a man at work in his garden who was quite the reverse. "J.n.s." said he, "did you ever see a snail?" "Certainly," said Jones. "Then," said the old boy, "you must have met him, for you never could overtake him."

The following epitaph is by Moore, on an attorney named Shaw:

"Here lies John Shaw,
Attorney at law:
And when he died
The devil cried,
'Give up your paw,
John Shaw,
Attorney at law!'"

"I am rich enough," says Pope to Swift, "and can afford to give away a hundred pounds a year. I would not crawl upon the earth without doing a little good. I will enjoy the pleasure of what I give, giving it while alive and seeing another enjoy it. When I die I should be ashamed to leave enough for a monument if there was a wanting friend above ground."

A colored member of the Legislature of Texas was met upon the street with a large roll of greenbacks in his hand, and cackling so loud that he attracted the attention of the bystanders who said to him: "What are you laughing at Jim?" Jim replied, "you see that money?" "Yes," "Well, Boss, I just got that for my vote; I've been bought four or five times in my life, but this is the first time I ever got de cash myself."

A woman save what she chooses without being abused for it. She can take a nap after dinner while her husband goes to work. She can go into the street without being asked to stand treat at every saloon. She can stay home while her husband goes to work. She can stay at home in time of war, and get married again if her husband gets killed. She can wear corsets if too thick, and other fixing if too thin. She can get a divorce from her husband if she sees one she likes better. She can get her husband in debt all over, and he warns the public not to trust her.

For that Roland the Boston Post returns this Oliver: "The ambition of a Chicago girl is to live in any sort of a swell front, to ride behind a $1,500 span, go into ecstasies over cheap opera and negro minstrelsy, play old sledge for catawba, religiously avoid all kind of lectures or anything touching the intellect, marry a man who owns a five-acre flour mill, and work up a divorce at the end of the honeymoon. Having got this and a cool, round alimony, she is ready to depart—for a second trip over the same programme."

THE CAUSE AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

—The primary cause of Consumption is derangement of the digestive organs. This derangement produces deficient nutrition and assimilation. By assimilation I mean that process by which the nutriment of the food is converted into blood, and thence into the solids of the body. Persons with digestion thus impaired, having the slightest predisposition to pulmonary disease, or if they take cold, will be very liable to have Consumption of the Lungs in some of its forms; and I hold that it will be impossible to cure any case of Consumption without first restoring a good digestion and healthy assimilation. The very first thing to be done is to cleanse the stomach and bowels from all diseased mucus and slime, which is clogging these organs so that they cannot perform their functions, and then rouse up and restore the liver to a healthy action.
For this purpose the surest and best remedy is Schenck's Mandrake Pills. These Pills clean the stomach and bowels of all impurities, and restore the system to its normal state. It is in a condition like this that Schenck's Mandrake Pills prove to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. It is alkaline, and its use will neutralize all excess of acid, making the stomach sweet and fresh; it will give permanent tone to this important organ, and create a good, hearty appetite, and prepare the system for the first process of a good digestion, and ultimately make good, healthy, living blood.
After this preparatory treatment, what remains to cure Consumption is the free and persevering use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.
The Pulmonic Syrup nourishes the system, purifies the blood, and is readily absorbed into the circulation, and thence distributed to the diseased lungs. There it ripens all morbid mucus, whether in the form of abscesses or tubercles, and then assists Nature to expel all the diseased matter, in the form of free expectoration, when it is ripe for expulsion. It is then, by the great healing and purifying properties of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, that all cavities and cavities are healed up sound, and my patient is cured.

The essential thing to be done in curing Consumption is to get up a good appetite and a good digestion, so that the body will grow in flesh and get strong. If a person has a bad appetite, and cavity or abscess in the lungs, the cavity cannot heal, the matter cannot ripen, so long as the system is below par. What is necessary to cure is a good appetite, a good, hearty appetite, a good nutrition, the body to grow in flesh and get fat; then Nature is helped, the cavities will be healed up sound, and my patient is cured. It is important that while using Schenck's Medicines, care should be exercised not to take cold; keep indoors in cold and damp weather; avoid night air, and take out-door exercise only in a genial and warm atmosphere.

I wish it distinctly understood that when I recommend a patient to be careful in regard to taking cold, while using my Medicines, I do so for a special reason. A man who has but partially recovered from the effects of a bad cold is far more liable to a relapse than one who has been entirely cured; and it is precisely the same in regard to Consumption.
So long as the lungs are not perfectly healed, just so long is there imminent danger of a relapse into the disease. Hence it is that I so strenuously caution pulmonary patients against exposure themselves to an atmosphere that is not genial and pleasant. Confirmed Consumptives' lungs are a mass of sores, which the least change of atmosphere will inflame. The grand secret of my success with my Medicines consists in my ability to subdue inflammation instead of provoking it, as many of the faculty do. An inflamed lung cannot, with safety to the patient, be exposed to the biting blasts of Winter or the chilling winds of Spring or Autumn. It should be carefully shielded from all irritating influences. The utmost caution should be observed in this particular, as without it a cure under almost any circumstances is an impossibility.

The person should be kept on a wholesome and nutritious diet, and all the Medicines continued until the body has restored to the natural quantity of flesh and strength.

I was myself cured by this treatment of the worst kind of Consumption, and have lived to get fat and beary these many years, with one lung mostly gone. I have cured thousands since, and very many have been cured by this treatment whom I have never seen.

About the first of October I expect to take possession of my new building, the corner of Sixth and Arch Streets, where I shall be pleased to give advice to all who may require it.
Full directions accompany all my Remedies, so that a person in any part of the world can be readily cured by a strict observance of the same.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Peas

Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., and lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true

Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants.

They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Biliary Organs.
